GOLD RUSH IN NORTHAMPTON

With Gold at a 30 year high and everybody feeling the pinch with the ongoing Credit Crunch, selling your gold for cash is a great way to make money.

The Guardian Jewellery Company is at the centre of the boom, handing out thousands of pounds from their unit in the Grosvener Shopping Centre.

Commercial Director Lloyd Barrett was delighted when one customer, on receiving a large payout, ran straight into the travel agents to book a long awaited Christmas Holiday! Mr. Barrett's enthusiasm seems to be shared by his customers. Demand has prompted them to introduce an all new postal service as well as their 150 nationwide centres.

"Thousands of customers, every week, visit our stands. We've paid for everything from a shopping spree to a wedding. People are stunned at the value of some of the jewellery they have sitting in a draw at home. Some people just can't get to us or want a more discreet service, so now we offer a new postal system. We've made it as easy as possible. All you need to do is give us a call and we'll send you a pre-paid gold pack. Once you've sent your gold to us using your Royal Mail registered envelope, you'll receive a cheque within a few days."

So how does it work? They are looking for anything made of gold. Watches, rings, bracelets, necklaces, ingots, coins, even teeth. And what's best, if you're not sure if it's gold, they'll be happy to have a look at it for you. In fact they're more than happy to have a look at anything, no strings, no obligations, just free advice.

"Some people truly underestimate how much their unwanted jewellery is worth, the average sale is over £150"

Often these pieces of gold jewellery are out of fashion, broken or worn and not worth repairing. They sit in the bottom of drawers, forgotten, so you may wonder why anyone would want to buy them and whether they are even worth selling at all.

Well, the good news is that Guardian Jewellery are the UK's foremost purchaser of second hand jewellery, and with over 150 centres nationwide its easier than ever to sell your jewellery, either by post or in one of their numerous stores.

Any gold jewellery will always retain its value as a precious metal and any gold object can be recycled and made into something else. Their sister company has been producing jewellery for high street jewellers for over 40 years and your gold could well be turned into a precious heirloom for somebody else.

With the price of gold still soaring the public are taking full advantage by selling their unwanted jewellery to Guardian Jewellery Co.

Guardian are open for business Monday to Saturday. Please visit their stand in the Grosvener Shopping Centre for a free, no obligation quotation. For more information or to find your nearest centre call 0800 917 3144

Anger over rail fare price rises

BY TOBY LOCK

toby.lock@northants.co.uk

RAIL passengers have this week faced price increases which potentially double the cost of commuting to London.

Liberal Democrat parliamentary candidate for Northampton South, Paul Varnsvery, has criticised rail operator London Midland for changes to ticket types - doubling the cost of travelling to and from the capital, and Birmingham.

Previously, commuters buying Off-Peak Day Return tickets had been able to complete their return journeys without restriction.

From Monday, changes to ticket restrictions meant that passengers leaving London Euston and Birmingham New Street in peak afternoon hours were charged for an Anytime Day Return - more than twice the price of the off-peak fare.

Prices for an Off-Peak Day Return are £22.90, but become invalid for trains between 4.45pm and 6.45pm travelling from Euston, and 4.35pm and 6pm from Birmingham, and will cost £46.80 for an Anytime Day Return.

Cllr Varnsvery, deputy leader of Northampton Borough Council, said: "These changes are a hidden charge for hard-working people.

"This is going to hit tourists travelling to and from London airports, not to mention anyone visiting the NEC or travelling locally.

"London Midland announced the changes on its website on December 22 - just three days before Christmas meaning that travellers will be hit as they turn up to travel this week.

"London Midland's decision to go ahead with these changes is madness at a time when we are being urged to take public transport to help cut our carbon footprints."

Northampton North MP Sally Keeble is chairwoman of the rail users' group. She said: "It is dreadful. This increase affects people badly. It is important that fares are kept down.

"Northampton already faces a problem because it is very expensive to park your car in the car parks.

"This change was made without consultation, and I am speaking to London Midland to see what can be done to change it."

A London Midland statement read: "London Midland is making some changes to weekday ticket restrictions in Birmingham and London from Monday, January 4, 2010.

"Passengers travelling during the late afternoon or early evening will need to hold a Season, Anytime or Anytime Day ticket. There are no changes to the existing morning restrictions."

A WINTER wonderland arrived in Northampton this week as more snow hit the area. For the full story, see page 2

It's all white as snow makes a comeback

BY TOBY LOCK

tobylock@hpnorthants.co.uk

SNOW caused havoc across Northamptonshire with more than 80 schools and colleges closed yesterday due to the weather.

Snowfall on Tuesday night meant thousands of youngsters enjoyed a day off school, while commuters sat in traffic on snarled up roads.

The conditions also forced the county council to cancel school and social services transport and motorists were warned to take extra time and care when travelling, with only essential journeys advised.

A spokesperson from Northamptonshire County Council said: "Make sure you take care in potentially dangerous weather conditions with advice on keeping your house warm and how to ensure your safety on the roads."

A spokeswoman for Northamptonshire Police said: "Snow has fallen across the county throughout the night with south Northants receiving the most.

"As such motorists are being advised to make sure they leave plenty of time for their journeys and drive appropriately for the conditions they face.

"More minor roads do have snow on and so motorists are advised to take care if venturing out and make sure they allow extra time for their journey, especially as the rush hour gets underway."

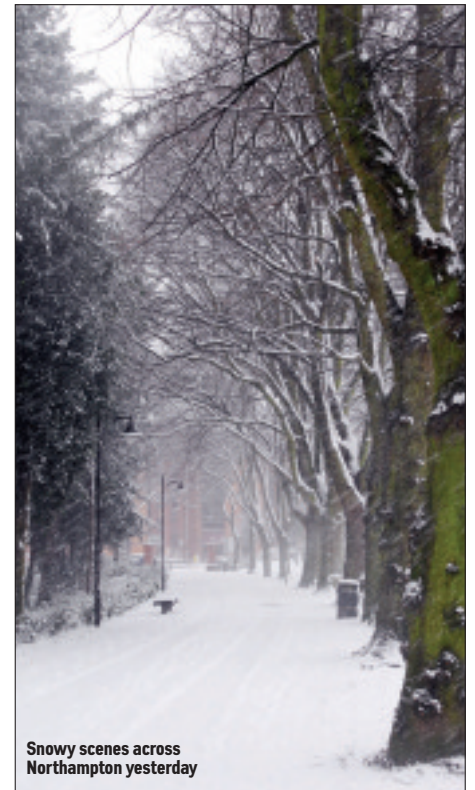

MGWSP, the highways service provider for the County Council, is working around the clock to keep routes clear of snow and ice and are assessing the situation hourly.

Rebecca Miller, communications manager at MGWSP, said regular meetings are being held to plan for evening and early morning gritting runs from the 27-strong fleet of trucks.

She also assured the public that there is plenty of grit, though not all of the grit bins will be refilled, as priority must go to footpaths and major road routes.

She said: "We are focusing on gritting footways in the main shopping and pedestrianised areas and refilling grit bins across the county. It will not be possible to fill all of the 1,729 salt bins but all available resources are being used to maximise the amount of bins filled.

"Salt bins are there for the public to use on the highways and footways and MGWSP are urging people not to empty these bins for private use."

Bin brother to learn from your rubbish

SAMPLES from your bins could be analysed to improve the waste management service in Northamptonshire.

A study to analyse samples of household rubbish is being carried out by Project Reduce, a joint venture between Milton Keynes Council and Northamptonshire County Council between January and March. Black bin bags will be taken from a small number of properties by specialists from the company Resource Futures.

They will work separately from the usual bin collection services but are acting on behalf of the local authorities.

The waste collected is not linked to a household and all the results will remain anonymous and confidential.

The councils are working to find alternative ways of treating and disposing of black bin waste that ends up in landfill. For the full story see www.northantshp.co.uk

Digging in to bring water feature to the market

WORK on the highly anticipated Market Square fountain got underway this week. Installation of the water feature, which will be surrounded by a circular paved area and ground lighting, began yesterday and is due to be completed by the end of April.

The seven-jet fountain will blast water from the ground and there will be new seats nearby.

Northampton Borough Councillor and cabinet member for regeneration, Richard Church, pictured, said: "A fountain is something people wanted to see reinstated in the town so I'm sure that as the installation progresses it will be really interesting for passers by. Although the site will be fenced off for the period of construction for safety reasons, there won't be any major disruptions to the area and the businesses around the south-east corner of the market will be open as usual.

"It will be a real focal point for the centre of Northampton where people can meet up or relax on the new seating.

"Once it is complete it will make the main gateway into our historic Market Square a special place for people who are going shopping or to our range of exciting events."

The project is part of the wider regeneration of the Market Square.

Councillors rapped over academy plan

BY TOBY LOCK
toby.lock@hpnorthants.co.uk

CABINET members came under fire for the way they handled the academy plans at Weston Favell School, despite revealing those plans looked likely to be dropped.

Councillors met on Tuesday at an Extraordinary Meeting of Northamptonshire County Council following the controversy surrounding the school.

There, it was revealed that plans looked set to be rejected next week when members of the cabinet meet on Tuesday, January 10.

In December, members of the cabinet chose to ignore public opinion, voting in favour of an academy at Weston Favell.

However, after sponsors United Learning Trust (ULT) withdrew, the council continued its bid to find a replacement.

Despite plans to drop the proposal, debate swirled among councillors who felt that the decision was poorly handled and called for a new cabinet.

In a motion put forward by leader of the Lib Dem group, Cllr Brendan Glynn said: "This council has no confidence in the decision of its Executive to issue a statutory notice of closure in respect of Weston Favell School and calls upon the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families not to proceed with proposals for an academy to replace Weston Favell School."

Independent councillor Tony Clarke said: "The cabinet has done more damage to the reputation of the Conservative party than we as opposing councillors could ever have achieved, and have developed a reputation of being out of touch and unrepentant.

"The cabinet has got to listen to the people of Northamptonshire, not just to their own voices."

Cabinet member for children and young people, Cllr Andrew Grant defended the council's stance on the matter.

He said: "When Weston Favell School went into National Challenge, we had a meeting with school governors and staff, and the consensus was that academy status was the way forward.

"This motion will be withdrawn next week at the cabinet meeting."

Police double stop-checks for safety campaign

MORE than 100 people were arrested for drink-driving as police stepped up their Christmas crackdown.

A total of 1,358 breath tests were conducted by officers in December, resulting in 108 arrests - 65 have since been charged, while 43 are still being investigated - as part of Northamptonshire Police's annual campaign.

The crackdown saw more than twice as many stop-checks as the year. As well as the co-ordinated operations, all drivers involved in road traffic collisions, spotted committing road traffic offences, and those suspected of having drunk alcohol, were also subjected to breath tests.

Chief inspector Gary Percival said: "While we are pleased that the percentage of people failing breath tests has gone down from 15 per cent last year to eight per cent this year, we are still very disappointed that people were still risking losing everything by getting behind the wheel under the influence." He added: "Offenders stand a very high chance of getting caught and we must stress that a drink drive conviction has the potential to ruin your life - not only will you have a criminal record and substantial fine, you could also lose your licence and your job.

"Anyone who gets behind the wheel intoxicated is risking their own life and the lives of others. One way or another, drink driving will cost you."

RNIB really needs your support

I AM the community fundraising manager for The Royal National Institute of Blind People covering the East of England area.

I am looking for volunteers to join our growing team. Every day over 100 people start to lose their sight. The Royal National Institute of Blind People (RNIB) helps to rebuild lives devastated by sight loss by providing over 60 services for people who are blind or visually impaired.

As an organisation we rely on generous donations from the general public.

Much of our funding comes from our famous "Sooty" boxes and collections.

Any readers who feel they can offer help a few hours per year, to undertake this rewarding work, should contact me to discuss the flexible volunteering opportunities within RNIB.

I can be contacted on 01603 262427. Thank you for your support.

Calling all ex-servicemen

I AM the organiser of the War Research Society which was formed over thirty years ago by serving Police Officers and Ex-Servicemen. The Society supports a number of causes including the Commonwealth War Graves Commission, Normandy Widows and Veterans and other Charities.

This Society runs coach trips to the 1st and 2nd World War Battlefields, Cemeteries and Historic Sites of Northern Europe.

In 2010 a selection of the places to be visited include Ypres and Somme, Normandy, Arnhem and the Ardennes.

All trips have an experienced guide and include conducted tours of the Battlefields and visits to requested cemeteries.

I would welcome enquiries and ask for a medium sized stamped addressed envelope so that literature detailing our tour dates, costs etc. can be forwarded.

New Year message

Adrian Lee - Chief Constable, Northamptonshire Police

A NEW YEAR is always a time for renewed hope, challenge and resolution and my goal is that 2010 is the year that consolidates the trust and confidence that the public have in Northamptonshire Police.

When I arrived as Chief Constable last October, I made it clear that we must build trust and confidence within our communities through providing the very best service that we can, based on your needs.

But it is important to acknowledge that the Force does enjoy significant support from communities across the county, support that has been earned over a long period of time thanks to a lot of hard, selfless work by officers and staff.

It is no co-incidence that crime in Northamptonshire continues to fall and Operation Guardian, established last autumn to tackle burglary, robbery and vehicle crime, has produced more than 400 arrests.

By working together with the public as part of Team Northamptonshire, I believe we can strengthen this support still further. That is my hope and resolution and together it will be our challenge.

I want the Force's performance streamlined, bureaucracy reduced and communications improved so we can provide a more tailored and efficient service to people in the county.

And I want my officers to take every opportunity to draw on their experience and use discretion and professional judgement in the decisions that they make, to provide the best outcomes for communities.

This year will be challenging for all public services and I think everyone realises that. We will have to contend with the impact of reduced funding, necessitating a very forward-thinking approach to how we can make improvements.

But by working together we can improve Northamptonshire and make it a better and safer place to live, work and visit.

Millions see Matt take control of the tardis

NORTHAMPTON has a new Doctor.

Millions watched as Matt Smith made his debut in the BBC smash Dr Who as he took over the reigns from popular Scot David Tennant on New Year's Day.

The 27-year-old, who attended Northampton School for Boys, is the latest in the long line of actors to have played the mysterious time-travelling hero since its first screening in 1963.

Matt was announced as the successor to David Tennant this time last year.

MP bids farewell as he prepares to bow out

'I HAVE done my best to serve you' is the message from departing MP Tim Boswell.

Mr Boswell, who represents Daventry and South Northamptonshire, announced three years ago that he would not stand at the next election, which will take place within the next six months.

As a parting message to constituents, Mr Boswell has thanked people for their support.

He said: "Our political system is unpredictable, but we do know that a general election will take place within the next six months. It is over three years since I announced that I would not be standing again for Parliament as I am now 67, have served for twenty-two and a half years and know that constituency boundaries will be altered radically to create a new seat of South Northamptonshire and transform the Daventry constituency itself. I have greatly enjoyed my time as your MP, and I hope I have been able to help you. But now the time has come to step down. I am sorry that this has come at a time when Parliament's reputation has been stained by the expenses scandal.

"There is no doubt that we must take urgent action with a completely different independent regulator, to put this behind us and restore credibility for Parliament following the General Election.

"I would like to express my thanks to all those who have helped me on this long journey.

"This includes other elected members, including councillors at all levels, all those who work in public services, including education, health and councils and the emergency services, those including my friends and my own family who have campaigned with me and all my constituents who have had a constructive relationship with me.

"I have done my best to serve you and I know that in spite of the changes which have taken place, that will remain the main task of my successors as MPs."

a message from the Mayor

Here's an idea to help us cope with snow...

HAPPY New Year! It certainly is for the young people in the road where I live, as a half-finished snowman, abandoned while a snowball fight goes on, will testify.

Snow is a problem for many people, especially the elderly.

If you have someone who lives near you who is alone, elderly, frail or housebound, be a good neighbour.

Call in on them to see if there is any way you can help.

They may feel unable to go to the shops, and even if they are keeping warm and have a well-stocked larder, they may miss human contact, so 15 minutes having a chat will make them feel valued.

Not only will you be a good Samaritan but it may give you a good feeling about yourself too.

Snow also makes life hard for many people who work outdoors too.

Think of the many people who have to work outside whatever the weather - postmen, police officers, shepherds, the men who grit the roads or who have to drive in challenging conditions to deliver the goods so essential to modern life.

I was following a lorry the other day which had a sticker on the back.

I can't remember the exact wording, but it was something like "If it was in your shop it got there by lorry".

In the best of weather manoeuvring a 40 foot articulated vehicle is not easy; in conditions like we have this week it takes a special kind of skill.

I mentioned gritting the roads earlier.

This is something that is needed every year, but it is rare that Northamptonshire has as much snow as it is having at present.

Gritting is an expensive business, and one county council in our area has estimated that it had spent some £1 million, in staff overtime and buying salt, by Monday night.

When I was young there seemed to be a grit bin by every steep piece of road, but these days grit bins in Northampton are seen about as frequently as the county's fabled wild leopard (does it exist or doesn't it?).

Every county councillor has £10,000 to spend on improving their community.

Living as I do in a cul-de-sac with a right-angled turn onto a short steep hill to access the main road I would find a grit bin a godsend and I, and I am sure my neighbours, would willingly go out and spread any salt the county council provided.

So, having read that many county councillors have so far spent none of that £10,000 they are given to help their communities (money that comes out of the council tax we all pay), here is an idea for them - if you have no other plans spend some of that money on providing gritbins in hilly areas. And that would make it a happy new year for thousands of Northampton residents in these snowy times...

Deco set for another panto

ANYONE brave enough to look ahead to next Christmas will be pleased to know pantomime looks set to return to the Deco Theatre.

After a three year absence Peter Pan was performed there over the festive season and following its success plans are already in place to stage Aladdin next Christmas.

Peter Pan was produced by Kevin and Jill Roach of Moulton Park-based theatre production company Stage Right Productions.

The 42 show run finished on New Year's Eve.

Mr Roach, who also directed the panto, said: "We've had some fantastic audiences, plenty of full houses and most importantly, some terrific feedback, which we value enormously."

Good effort as inspectors score centres high

AN independent inspection has awarded top marks to the South Northants Leisure Centres run in partnership between South Northants Council, South Northamptonshire Leisure Trust and Serco Leisure.

Both Towcester and Brackley leisure facilities have been awarded the Quest quality kite mark, operated by Sport England leisure consultants.

Quest is a tool for continuous improvement, designed primarily for the management of leisure facilities and leisure development to help managers enhance, improve and continue to improve the quality of service provided to customers.

Towcester Centre for Leisure and Brackley Leisure Centre has recently scored the 'highly commended' status scoring 77 per cent and 80 per cent in recent audits, the national average being 73 per cent.

National benchmarking figures put Brackley in the top 10.5 per cent within the country and Towcester in the top 26.5 per cent based on figures released in September 2009.

To achieve the kite mark the inspectors pay mystery visits, scrutinize service standards, cleanliness, maintenance, marketing, customer reaction and the centres processes for ensuring continuous improvement.

Stop the spread by staying away

BY TOBY LOCK

toby.lock@hpnorthants.co.uk

ILL residents are being warned to keep away from Northampton General Hospital.

During the winter, viruses such as winter vomiting (norovirus) and flu become more common and spread more easily.

Winter vomiting or gastroenteritis is caused by a virus called norovirus.

The virus lasts for about two to three days and symptoms consist of a raised temperature, headaches and aching limbs.

Although it can be unpleasant for the person infected, the illness is usually mild and will get better on its own without any antibiotics.

Staff at NGH are urging people who feel they have these illnesses to stay away from the hospital to protect other patients.

A spokesperson from the hospital said: "Do not come to hospital if you have been sick or had diarrhoea in the last 48 hours, or if you have flu-like symptoms (coughing, sneezing, high temperature)

"Children should not visit unless it is essential, such as for compassionate reasons.

"Wash your hands regularly and thoroughly with soap and water, particularly before entering and leaving wards and clinics.

"Use a tissue to cover your mouth and nose when coughing or sneezing, dispose of it in the bin then wash your hands with soap and water

"We are taking these precautions to help prevent the spread of the winter vomiting virus and swine flu to our patients, visitors and staff."

Fighting the recession

HELPING unemployed young people came under the spotlight on Wednesday when the Minister for Employment and Welfare Reform Jim Knight MP came to Northampton.

Mr Knight visited a training provider and a college with Sally Keeble, MP for Northampton North, to listen to the views of young people on their experience of the recession and what extra help they needed. They also visited the Association of Building Engineers.

Mrs Keeble said: "Providing help for young people during the recession has been a big priority for the Government to ensure we don't have another lost generation as we did in the early 1990s."

Teenager attacked

A 17-YEAR-OLD boy was assaulted at about 12.30am on New Year's Day.

The incident happened in the Church Hill area of Moulton.

He was walking with some friends when he was approached by three males who began to be abusive and then kicked and punched him.

The offenders are described as white males, 18 to 20 years of age, wearing white trainers and one male wearing a black top.

Witnesses to this incident, or anyone with information, should call Northamptonshire Police on 03000 111 222 - alternatively, information can be given anonymously to Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Service helping people stub it out

HAVE you made a new year's resolution yet? If you have, have you stuck to it or is it already broken?

Many will have decided and be going through the process of giving up smoking.

According to official figures, one in eight people nationwide will be aiming to quit the habit.

JULIE FISHER takes a look at how people in Northamptonshire can get help and reach their goals.

DIANA Mair smoked for 40 years and gave up with the help of the Northamptonshire Stop Smoking Services.

The mother of four, who lives in Dallington, first started lighting up at the age of 18 and tried to give up around 15 times over the years using a number of methods, including acupuncture, hypnosis, and 'going cold turkey'.

In October last year she managed to break the 10 to 15-a-day habit with the help of the service.

Mrs Mair said: "This one was good because I walked in and it was on a one-to-one basis.

"I did it because my brother was suffering from COPD (chronic obstructive pulmonary disease) and he subsequently died and I did not want to go like him.

"I also felt that everybody is stopping now.

"I know I will never smoke again. It was just such a great support system and they give you all the right things.

"I think older people are doing it now because we are aware of the health risks involved."

Official figures suggest one in three people in Northamptonshire smoke, with new year being a traditional time people aim to give up when they make their resolutions.

Last year 4,586 people within the Northants PCT area quit smoking successfully with the Northants Stop Smoking Services.

Jodie Crane, from the service, said: "Our research shows that smokers who quit with a specific event or date in mind have a much greater chance of success, so preparing to quit is a good idea.

"We don't recommend that you go it alone though, but with the help and support of your friends and family as well as the NHS Stop Smoking Services.

"Those who quit with the Stop Smoking Services are four times more likely to succeed than people relying on will power alone."

Jodie has some top tips for successfully giving up smoking. They are:

■ Identify your smoking triggers and plan ahead. Try the Addiction Test at www.nhs.uk/smokefree

■ Get support from trained NHS advisers who can help you to understand your addiction and how to beat it

■ Use nicotine replacement products or other stop smoking medicines to cope with the withdrawal symptoms. These are available on prescription from the NHS

■ Sign up for free text and email alerts from the Together Programme with motivational

Diana Mair

tips and advice to keep you on track

■ Avoid situations where you might be tempted to smoke again. Plan ahead to cope with the hard times

■ Note how much cash you're saving. Work out how long it will take you to save for your dream purchase by using the calculator on www.nhs.uk/smokefree

■ Use a carbon monoxide

monitor to see for yourself how quickly your body recovers once you stop smoking. Local NHS Stop Smoking Services offer carbon monoxide monitoring as part of their stop smoking programmes

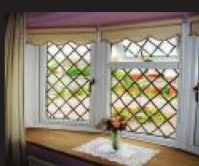

■ Throw out your ashtrays, matches and lighters and anything else you needed to smoke. Put potpourri where your ashtrays used to be - your home will smell fresher in no time at all

■ Order a free DVD from 0800 169 0169 to find out about the full range of NHS support available to help you

■ Most importantly, take it one day at a time and reward yourself every day

Anyone who wants help stopping smoking can contact the service on 0845 601 3116 or email smokefree@northants.nhs.uk.

CROWNING GLORY: Award for Jenson Button follows a great year

The Royal seal of approval

BY JULIE FISHER
julie.fisher@northyorks.co.uk

FORMULA One world champion Jenson Button has been awarded an MBE in the New Year's Honours List.

The 29-year-old won the driver's championship while with Brackley-based Brawn GP in 2009.

The head of the team, Ross Brawn, has been given an OBE. His team won the constructor's championship in 2009 before being taken over by Mercedes-Benz.

Mr Brawn said: "I am surprised and delighted to have been chosen to receive the award of an OBE in the New Year's Honours List.

"Receiving this award is a great personal honour for me however it is only through the dedication and commitment of the many talented people I have worked with and the unstinting support of my family which have led to this award.

"I am very grateful to everyone involved and pleased that the achievements of everyone at the Brawn GP Formula One Team in particular have been recognised in this way."

Mr Button said: "This really is the crowning glory to what has been the most incredible year of my life.

"Everybody at Brawn played their part.

"It was down to their expertise, dedication and hard work that we were able to achieve so much.

"We literally started with nothing, but had the belief, determination and passion to take on the world and succeed.

"Many people played a role in my World Championship - and in receiving this award, I want to acknowledge and thank them for all their efforts.

"To be recognised by the Queen and the British people is a tremendous honour."

Former Northampton Saints director of rugby Ian McGeechan has been given a knighthood for his services to rugby union.

He spent six years at Franklin's Gardens between 1992 and 1999.

Bishop Louis Richard McCleod, from Northampton, has been awarded the OBE for services to Southwark Credit Union.

Bryan Lewin, the former head of Trading Standards for Northamptonshire County Council, has been given an MBE for services to consumers and Colonel John Royle has been given an MBE for services to the Soldiers', Sailors', Airmen's and Families Association in Northamptonshire.

Two years of Force service

BY TOBY LOCK

toby.lock@hpnorthants.co.uk

A PHONE line for disabled callers has celebrated its second anniversary.

Northamptonshire Police's assistant chief constable Martin Jelley was on hand to cut the cake to celebrate the Disability Line, which helps people with disabilities have improved access to the Force.

Registered users are connected directly to an operative, avoiding the switchboard and automated messages. This reduces the amount of time the caller is waiting to speak to an operative and helps minimise any pain or discomfort they may have when holding a telephone. Customer relations officer Lynn Coppin has managed the scheme since it was launched in late December 2007.

She said: "We have 386 people aged from nine to 100-years-old who have become registered users and we have had more than 50 people use the service since it was launched.

"We are actively seeking new registered users of the service by visiting local charities and organisations and telling them about it and I would urge anyone who is eligible for the service or anyone who cares for someone who is to contact us to find out more."

A person can register for the service if:

■ They have a disability or illness that affects their ability to hold a telephone for long periods, such as arthritis

■ They have a condition that affects their behaviour or memory, such as Alzheimer's

■ They become easily confused or agitated due to their illness, which sometimes can be aggravated by stressful or prolonged situations, such as Parkinson's disease

■ Their ability to communicate is hindered by the symptoms of a medical condition or as a result of an injury, such as a stroke

Newborn doesn't stop medic mum

BY TOBY LOCK

tobylock@hpnorthants.co.uk

A MEMBER of Northampton General Hospital's radiotherapy physics staff has achieved a postgraduate degree in medical physics.

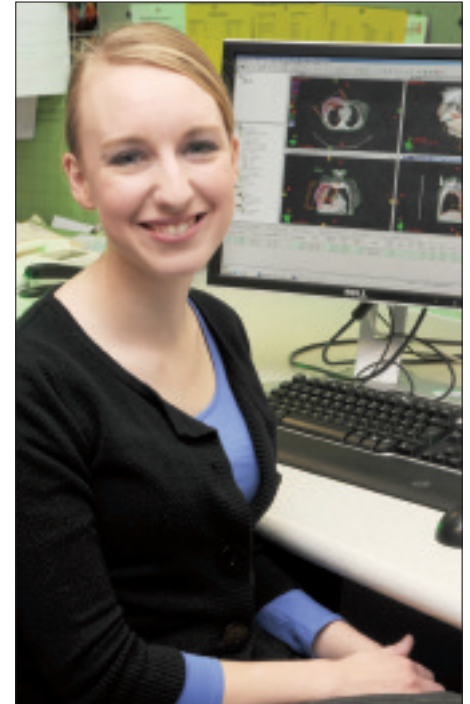

Ruth Rowse, pictured, passed her Open University MSc in medical physics. She is also a senior dosimetrist (member of the radiation oncology team) and one of the experts who design radiation therapy treatment plans for cancer patients.

Ruth, who already has a degree in radiotherapy, said: "I wanted to expand my knowledge into medical physics, and when I saw the course advertised I thought it would be a real development opportunity. I'm really pleased about my new qualification. It's given me so much more knowledge, and I have a much deeper understanding of my job. It makes me think a lot more about what I'm doing every day."

In the middle of her studies, Ruth also had to cope with giving birth to her first child. She said: "The morning sickness in pregnancy was a struggle, and when my little girl was born I had to fit in study time when she was asleep. It was hard work, but it was worth it."

Ruth, who joined NGH five years ago in January 2005, intends to use her expanded knowledge to develop her role within the hospital.

Head of radiotherapy physics Steven Martin said: "We congratulate Ruth on her success, which was achieved through hard work and dedication and to gain a distinction in the MSc is fantastic."

Ed's desert challenge is no walk in the park

BY TOBY LOCK

tobylock@hpnorthants.co.uk

AN eager soldier will run the Sahara to raise money for Marie Curie Cancer Care.

Edward Matts from Creaton has supported the charity since he was at school and has raised thousands of pounds for it.

He is currently serving with the TA in Afghanistan and has decided to take on the Sahara Ultra Marathon in October 2010 to raise funds for Marie Curie Cancer Care and Help for Heroes.

Edward said: "There are many reasons people take on challenges, let alone extreme challenges. I have always enjoyed pushing myself to the limit."

"Actually that's not strictly true. On completion of the 300 mile Pennine Way in 2004 I turned to my friend John after 11 days of walking through bogs, forests, valleys and over mountains, I uttered the words, 'I'm never going to do anything like that again.'"

"In 2008, a friend and I completed a 1,200 mile walk of Britain in 64 days. Having completed this extreme challenge I can now admit to myself that I like the challenge."

"I may not like it all while I'm doing it, but soon enough the rose tinted glasses come on and all I want to be doing is my next challenge."

Area fundraising manager Marea Roberts said: "It is wonderful that Edward is supporting Marie Curie once again with this very serious challenge. I am so impressed that a young person like Ed will push himself to the limit to help us fund our local Marie Curie nurses who give nursing care to the terminally ill giving them the choice of dying in their own homes supported by their families."

Local people can support Edward by visiting www.justgiving.com/sahara-marathon-MCCC or call Marea Roberts 01604 442311 for details of how to make a donation.

Charity needs your help after a rise in numbers

BY ANDREW GREGG
news@hpnorthants.co.uk

ANIMALS in Need are appealing for any bedding and pet supplies people are able to spare after a rise in stray animals being taken in during the Christmas and New Year period.

Annette Marriott from the charity says that there is always an increase around Christmas time and then another at the start of January.

She said: "This always happens - it seems to happen every year. We get a spike during the Christmas season and then another one over new year as well." Annette also said that bedding was urgently needed.

She added: "We desperately need blankets, sheets and towels to keep our animals comfortable and warm - any donations can simply be dropped off at the sanctuary."

Pillows and cushions cannot be used as bedding for the animals. The charity is also looking to re-home a number of dogs in its care.

Annette said "We have 55 dogs looking for homes, the situation is truly dire."

"The pounds are desperate, they are overflowing."

If you are able to donate sheets or towels or old dog bedding to Animals in Need then they can be dropped off at the Animals in Need Sanctuary at Pine Tree Farm, London Road in Little Ilchester.

NEW ideas and new walks are helping to create a buzz about this year's Waendel Weekend in Wellingborough.

Organisers are putting in place the foundations for what they hope will be another bonanza walking event in the borough.

This year's Waendel Walk weekend takes place on Friday, May 7, Saturday, May 8 and Sunday, May 9.

Team leader (Business Support Unit) and Waendel Co-ordinator, Peter Boulden said: "The entry forms are available and along with information leaflets can be collected from the council offices at Swanspool House and the Tithe Barn plus The Castle, Wellingborough Museum, the library and C E Atkins and Son in Cambridge Street.

"A lot of interest has been generated about the new Ladybird (5km/3 miles), Butterfly (10km/6 miles) and Bumblebee (15km/9 miles) walks."

Among the other attractions already planned to coincide with the walks are The Wellingborough

Chamber of Trade beer festival, music from Dr Busker, Audio Pirates and the crowning of the Wellingborough Carnival Queen.

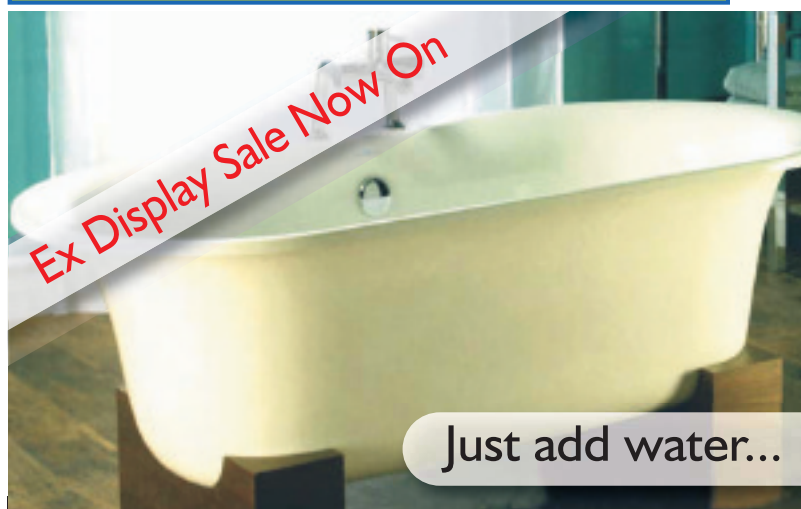

Organisers hope to have a party atmosphere going at The Castle thanks to a number of events which they hope walkers and non-walkers can enjoy.

Mr Boulden added: "We have already received the first payment form for the Waendel Walk and we would encourage people to get in their registration forms as early as possible."

BY ANDREW GREGG

FIFTY children with special needs will be treated to a special performance of Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs at the Derrogate Theatre today.

Northampton Rotary is taking children from Greenfield and Northgate school to the show.

Tony Fieldon, co-ordinator of the outing said: "Each year we are delighted to host a group of very special children at a pantomime."

"The laughter and joy we see on their faces is absolutely wonderful, and really makes it all worthwhile."

Rotarian Caroline Morris said that the outing to the pantomime is just one example of the lots of things the Rotary Club does within the community and says that the club is 'much more than sending in money'.

The Rotary Club also has a packed schedule for the coming year with events and activities including the annual Dragonboat Festival, music awards and a children's day out at Wicksteed Park.

The Rotary Club will also be hosting a mysterious fundraiser for an international project with Ann Widdecombe set to be the guest of honour.

This cinematic spectacle raises the bar

REVIEW

AVATAR (12A)
Running Time: 2hr 35mins
Director: James Cameron

THAT man has done it again.

Twelve years ago James Cameron provided us with the biggest movie of all-time in Titanic, now his pet project has changed the face of cinema for the next generation.

With breathtaking technology that must be seen in 3D to get the full experience, the director of iconic movies such as Aliens, The Abyss and The Terminator, has unleashed the most expensive movie ever with his sci-fi adventure Avatar.

Don't get me wrong, this is still a fantastic spectacle in regular 2D, but (literally) another dimension is added if you can see it in 3D, as the far away planet of Pandora is brought to life with stunning razor-sharp visuals making it feel so close that you can almost be there.

Terminator: Salvation's Sam Worthington takes the lead, as paralysed marine Jake Sully is offered a major cash incentive to take part in an exclusive Avatar project which will pay for expensive spinal surgery to enable him to walk again.

As corporate "fat cats" look for a way to usher the indigenous natives, called the Na'vi, away from money-making natural resources, the project headed by Sigourney Weaver's scientist

Grace is the last hope for a diplomatic solution before hired army grunts go in "all guns blazing".

Transported through mind-control into a live Na'vi creature (mixed with human DNA), Sully soon gets emotionally attached to the culture falling for princess Neytiri (Star Trek's Zoe Saldana) in the process.

But as the locals have a life-binding connection to the forest, Sully's predicament turns to a moral nightmare as he has to decide whether to fight alongside his new friends, or the humans led by head honcho Parker (Giovanni Ribisi) and military badass Quaritch (Stephen Lang) who have now run out of patience.

The plot itself won't win any awards, with fairly generic scripting a few cliches and unintentionally funny moments (the alien race's comical religious dance for one) are also thrown in but as you get absorbed in Cameron's vision the long run-time seems to breeze by.

The world of Pandora is simply immersive with spectacular creatures and luscious, rich, colourful landscapes that will leave you uttering "wow" under your breath.

The special effects wizardry is superbly aided by Saldana's mesmerising computer-generated turn and the competently amiable Worthington along with noteworthy support from Weaver and particularly Lang's over-the-top colonel.

The few storyline inadequacies leaves this short of Cameron's best it's a four-star movie dressed in five-star expensive 3D clothing but the man who made the line "king of the world" synonymous with his last film, could easily use that term as his personal moniker.

That's because with Avatar he has raised the bar and changed the movie-going experience forever.

Avatar isn't just a film, it's a cinematic spectacle.

New theatre school opens its doors

BY JODIE PARSONS

jodie.parsons@hpnorthants.co.uk

YOUNG people can hone their theatre skills this year when a drama company launches its new school this weekend.

Looking Glass Theatre was set up in 1998 through the Prince's Trust and since then has toured all over the East Midlands with drama activities ranging from professional performances in village halls and theatres to drama workshops in schools.

One of their highlights was when they took Three Billy Goats Gruff to Northampton's Royal Theatre in 1999 and played to about 400 people.

The theatre school is now launching Saturday morning classes at The Deco Theatre in Northampton, starting this Saturday. Classes will run between 10am and 1pm for students aged eight to 18.

During the sessions students will be able to specialise in particular areas of theatre - the choices are lighting, sound, stage management, set design, wardrobe, directing and acting. The end result will be a performance in June. Students will also have the opportunity to work alongside professional actors who will be starring in the company's pantomime Jack and the Beanstalk which will be touring Northamptonshire next Christmas.

For further information, visit www.lookingglasstheatre.co.uk or www.thedeco.co.uk.

You can also call 01604 791399 or 07711 540546 to find out more.

It's About Property and People!

Since opening our doors in 1996 we have continually tried to be a different estate agent. We have always believed this business is about people and not property. Passionate people make things happen!

Last year we took the bold step of changing the way we worked and decided to adopt the business model that is used throughout most of Europe, the US, Canada, Australia and South Africa. We wanted to attract the best and most experienced property professionals to help steer us through this changing market. ALL our Property Consultants are 'self employed' and reap what they sow. They are driven individuals who don't 'clock on' in the morning and 'off' in the evening. We are the ONLY estate agents in Northampton and Rugby to operate in this way. You'll notice the difference from the moment you meet us to the moment we move you.

Director - Adam Wellesley

Chris Stone

Sally Brazener

1-2-1 relationships

We believe that when selling a property a vendor should have one point of contact. They should be able to get hold of the person dealing with their home at all times including evenings and weekends. Committed sales people do not 'clock on' and 'clock off' to regimented working hours. All our Property Consultants freely give out their mobile numbers and direct email addresses because they want to hear from you at a time to suit you not to suit them.

Team spirit

As all of our Property Consultants are self employed and have no basic salary to rely upon they will only earn if the property they are marketing sells. This means that if they haven't got any potential buyers already registered it is in their interest to promote the home and share the commission with their colleagues. This creates a very competitive and proactive environment and gives our vendors nine estate agents for the price of one.

Expert control

Getting an offer on a property is often the easy part of our business. Getting the sale through to exchange can sometimes be a challenge. Dealing with solicitors, mortgage lenders and other estate agents in the chain is a full time job and requires a great deal of knowledge and, of course, a sprinkling of patience. Most sales people are not equipped to do this so we place all of our sales in the hands of our expert Sales Coordinators.

Clever boards

If you have ever called an estate agent from the telephone number on the 'for sale' board you will have often found that the person you speak to rarely knows the property to any depth. This is because the person that placed the property on the market is normally out of the office valuing other homes. Horts 'for sale' boards have distinctive telephone numbers that divert to the Property Consultant dealing with that home so you always speak to the right person.

State-of-the-art Aspect's a winner

DAVID Wilson South Midlands is celebrating after winning yet another award for its state-of-the-art Aspect development in Upton.

The housebuilder has been awarded a Town and Country Design Award 2009 from the Northamptonshire branch of the Campaign to Protect Rural England (CPRE).

The CPRE campaigns for the sustainable future of the English countryside and these annual awards aim to recognise projects in Northamptonshire that protect the countryside, assist urban renewal and improve society's quality of life.

The awards ceremony was recently held at Cranford Hall in Kettering which is the residence of Sir John and Lady Robinson, the Vice President of the CPRE. Aspect was one of just four projects that received the prestigious Design Award.

Alan Mayes, technical secretary for the CPRE, was one of the judges.

He said: "Aspect is an example of modern housing using sustainable design elements in a creative way, at the interface of an urban extension with the open countryside."

Chris Hatfield, deputy managing director at David Wilson, attended the ceremony to collect the award.

He said: "We're thrilled that Aspect has been recognised by the CPRE for its sustainable features."

"It was an honour to attend the presentation and receive the award on behalf of David Wilson. We're extremely proud of Aspect and its eco-friendly credentials and this latest award will help to reinforce Aspect's status as one of the UK's most innovative new homes schemes."

Aspect is located on Upton Way in the emerging community of Sixfields. It is an innovative collection of 26 designer homes and comprises a mix of three, four and five-bedroom properties.

These distinctive homes fuse contemporary architecture with a stylish interior specification and have been purposely designed to be as dynamic as they are desirable. The properties include a number of features that aim to make them as environmentally friendly as possible yet remaining a comfortable living space suited to the demands of a modern lifestyle.

Each property is built to an EcoHomes 'Excellent' rating and comprise several environmentally friendly technologies including photovoltaic systems and solar panels for optimum energy efficiency, under floor heating for a warmer living environment, wood-burning stoves and cycle stores. Many homes also include either intensive or extensive green roofs.

Prices at the development start from £299,995.

For more information visit the sales office during the opening hours of 11am-6pm, Thursday to Monday. Alternatively call the sales hotline on 0844 811 4477, available 8am-9pm daily, or log onto the website at www.dwh.co.uk

David Wilson South Midlands was given a four star rating in this year's HBF Customer Satisfaction Survey, in which consumers are asked if they are satisfied with the quality of their new home and whether they would recommend their builder to a friend.

MARTIN & Co Northampton has joined the Estate & Letting Agent Awards scheme which recognises the best agents based on research conducted with landlords UK-wide.

The scheme measures the quality of customer service provided by agents during the rental process.

Phil Spencer, presenter of Channel 4's Location, Location property programme said: "I've been involved with the scheme for six years now and absolutely believe it to be the most relevant in the current market."

"The fact that customers are the judges and they determine the winners makes the awards unique."

"The customers are the ones who experience the service levels of the agents on a daily basis, so they are in a unique position to assess their performance."

Alexander Lamb, of Martin & Co Northampton, said: "We take our levels of customer service very seriously because we know clients have a choice."

"We have always been very proud of the personal service we provide and this is great way to demonstrate how good we really are."

"Any agent that registers for the scheme is making a public pledge that they are focused on providing the best possible service to their clients" says Simon Brown, Managing Director of Awards For Business, which runs the national scheme.

The scheme is backed by the Royal Institute of Chartered Surveyors (RICS).

David Dalby, Residential Director at RICS, said: "This is the fifth year that RICS have been involved with the awards, which we support because the results are based solely on customer satisfaction rather than the opinions of a judging panel."

"To win an Estate or Letting Agent of the Year Award, a firm has to demonstrate a consistently high level of service and, to achieve this, they must ensure that staff follow those standards of efficiency, good communication and transparency that differentiate the exceptional agent from the ordinary one."

RUGBY ROUND-UP

MIDLANDS TWO EAST (SOUTH)

NORTHAMPTON BBOB 13 VIPERS 12

BACK in September, BBOB travelled to Vipers with a depleted squad but managed a 19-12 victory, with all the points being scored by Alex Milne. This game was not much different.

The groundstaff at the Mill worked hard to make sure the match was played, and it was BB that started brighter by creating huge pressure on the Vipers line.

Dave Abrahams opened the scoring for the hosts after chasing down a grubber kick from Ben Mann for a try with Milne adding the extras.

The BB pressure continued as Milne increased the home sides lead with two more penalties to make it 13-0 at half time.

The second half was a different story and Vipers took advantage of the numerical difference in players following Tom Wearing's yellow card. Vipers superior set piece led to great field position for the visitors and a converted try was their reward heading in to the final few minutes. With increased confidence and the thought of revenge on their minds, Vipers stormed forward and grabbed a controversial late try, only for their kicker to miss what seemed a simple conversion as BBOB held on for the win.

FRIENDLY

NORTHAMPTON HEATHENS 33 RUSHDEN & HIGHAM 2ND XV 0

HEATHENS were pleased to be returning to action after a three week layoff caused by the recent poor weather and the Christmas break.

The Artizan-based Heathens opened the scoring on seven minutes when some excellent support play starting from their own half allowed hooker Mark Currell to put winger Dan Moore over in the corner for an unconverted try.

This was followed on 15 minutes when Tom Williams broke clear to score under the posts for stand off Andy Jefferson to slot this and all the subsequent tries of the match.

Five minutes later centre Sean Durcan crossed for the third try of the afternoon to be followed on 28 minutes by scrum half Gavin Cottrell to give Heathens a 26 point advantage at the interval.

The second half was not so free flowing and the hosts were restricted to one further try with Williams, who by now had slotted into full back, taking the ball in his own 22 and bursting through to score under the posts leaving Jefferson to convert.

FOOTBALL

IAN Sampson believes that the work put in on the training ground by his Northampton Town squad is paying off after they stunned promotion contenders Bournemouth at the weekend.

The 2-0 win away to the second-placed Cherries on Saturday lifted Town up two places to 16th in the standings and to within seven points of the play-offs.

Luke Guttridge opened the scoring for the visitors after just five minutes, with Ryan Gilligan getting his eighth of the season just after the quarter-hour mark.

They then survived late pressure from Bournemouth to secure a rare triumph at Dean Court.

It also extended Northampton's unbeaten run to five games and a win at home to Chesterfield this Saturday plus results elsewhere going their way could lift the club into the top half of the table.

Victory would also see the hosts match their six game unbeaten run set back in October shortly after Sampson took charge of the club.

Speaking after the Bournemouth game, he told the club website: "It's always important to get a win, we have had a bit of an up and down season so far but we are on a good little run at the moment and hopefully that will continue against Chesterfield.

"We've put in a lot of hard work on the training ground over Christmas and the players deserve all the plaudits for the win.

It was a great team performance and there is no better way to start 2010 than with a win.

"Everyone put in a great shift, we passed the ball around well and we defended well as a team.

"It was important that we started the game on the front foot and we played at a good tempo.

"We knew we needed to get among Bournemouth right from the start and we did that."

Sampson has also been impressed with the recent form of Billy McKay, who started up front alongside Adebayo Akinfenwa and provided the assist for the first goal.

"Billy McKay has been very lively in the last couple of games when he's come on and I just thought he deserved a start," he said.

"Bayo and Billy McKay linked up well for our first goal and it was a good finish from Luke Guttridge. It was a super strike from Ryan Gilligan for the second."

His inclusion saw exciting prospect Courtney Herbert drop to the bench, but Sampson insists that the former Long Buckby striker is still very much in his plans.

He said: "It's always good to have one or two options, Courtney Herbert is a valuable member of or squad but he has made a big step up from non-league football and we are going to help him progress as best we can."

Weekend opponents Chesterfield are currently ninth in the table and back in August recorded a 1-0 win over Northampton at Saltergate thanks to a first half goal from Donal McDermott.

The Cobblers look set to be without Liam Davis and Steve Guinan as they continue to struggle with injury.

New signing Stephen Flynn is awaiting international clearance, while fellow new boy Luke Wilkinson should be available.

Trampolinists bounce into World programme

THREE members of the Northamptonshire Trampoline Gymnastics Academy (NTGA) have been selected on the UK Sports World Class Programme.

James Higgins, who recently broke in to the world's top flight by finishing seventh in the World Championships, has been offered a place on the World Class Podium Programme.

Team mates Steve Walsh and Yasmin Gumbs have also been selected for the World Class Development Programme.

NTGA's Harvey Smith said: "There are only a total of 11 trampoline gymnasts across the whole country that have secured UK Sport support via our governing body, British Gymnastics, so it is a great achievement for the Northampton club."

The club have also welcomed 2000 Olympics competitor Jaime Moore to the coaching staff and are on the lookout for potential new members to join.

NTGA welcome all ages and abilities, with sessions running on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, as well as Saturday mornings and afternoons.

Anyone wanting more information should contact the club on 01604 645120 or email info@ntga.co.uk.

Saints' resolve keeps

RUGBY UNION

PHIL Dowson hailed the mentality of the Northampton Saints squad after they pulled off another last-second victory in the 24-22 win at home to London Irish on Saturday. With less than ten seconds remaining Northampton faced a five-point deficit, and with it their unbeaten home record looked to be slipping away.

But Chris Ashton was in the right place at the right time to score behind the posts for Shane Geraghty to convert, sparking wild celebrations amongst the home side as they leapfrogged their opponents in the Guinness Premiership.

"There's a massive desire within the squad, especially at home," said man of the match Dowson afterwards.

"There's massive fan support and the noise all day was fantastic. We don't want to give up this record easily and it came down to the last play.

"I think it's the squad's belief. Until that clock strikes zero we're going to keep on playing and never stop. To never give up is a great attitude to have and that's a big thing running through the squad."

Going into the match, Irish were unbeaten away since April last year and they were taking on a side that had only lost at home once in the last three seasons.

The Exiles led 9-6 after an opening 40 minutes which was very much a battle for territory. Chris Malone landed three penalties for Irish while Northampton's points came from the boot of Stephen Myler.

Within three minutes of the restart the home side were in front when Dowson powered over. Saints had kicked for the corner from a penalty and Hartley's line-out fell to Soane Tonga'uiaha, who in turn fed the flanker to score.

Myler was unable to convert from out wide and Northampton were unable to make the most of a subsequent spell of pressure which ended with

Ashton's efforts impress in front of six nations international selection duo

RUGBY UNION

CHRIS Ashton was again making all of the headlines for his part in Northampton Saints' 24-22 win over London Irish, scoring the winning converted try in the dying seconds at Franklin's Gardens.

With Saints trailing by five as time ticked away, Ashton received the ball after the hosts won a scrum close to the line. The ball hit the chest of the 22-year-old and he managed to regain control and get it down for his ninth try of the season.

"I think it helped me in a way," said the former Wigan rugby league star. "It paused things for a minute and let me have a look at the ball. I just tried to keep hold of it and ended up diving over at the right time."

"Normally it would bounce out and you wouldn't catch it, but it seemed to bounce up perfectly back into my hands. For some reason maybe it was meant to be today that it bounced back into my hands."

Perhaps it was fate, with two England selectors in attendance to see Ashton pounce ahead of the announcement of the squad for the Six Nations later this month.

The winger looks to be back to the form that saw him rack up 41 tries in all competitions during his first season with the club in the old National Division One as Northampton swept all before them.

And having run in 27 tries in 52 rugby league games before switching to the 15-man code, it is clear that Ashton loves nothing more than crossing the whitewash to score.

"I would pretty much do anything to score a try, especially in situations like that," confirmed the wing wizard after grabbing the winner against the Exiles.

But then there is the million dollar question – is scoring tries better than sex?

"My missus will be upset if I say yes," said Ashton, sidestepping the question in the same way he does when he carves through opposing defences.

Although his try-scoring form has returned after a barren 2008/09 season, the young winger is still trying to improve other facets of his game as he bids to earn a new contract when his current deal expires at the end of this season.

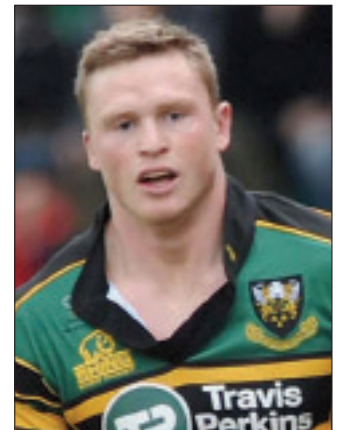

Northampton director of rugby Jim Mallinder is pleased with the progress that Ashton has made this season, saying: "He can score. He's got to work on other parts of his game but he's improving every week and working really hard on his game."

"I think we saw some of his kicking game, particularly in the first half up the slope. All good wingers need an all-round game, they've got to score tries but they've also got to do the bits and pieces right."

But the Saints chief stopped short of saying his leading try scorer should be in Martin Johnson's squad for the Six Nations opener against Wales on Saturday, February 6.

Mallinder said: "All we say to our players, and they know, we want everyone to play top level rugby and that's to play international rugby for your country."

"To do that you've got to play well week in, week out and I think quite a number of our players are doing that."

their unbeaten home record momentum swinging back in favour of the visitors.

With the hosts pressing forward, Ben Foden's pass intended for Paul Diggin was picked off by Peter Hewat and the Exiles wing raced away to score with Malone converting just before the hour.

The fly half added his fourth penalty on 62 minutes and although Myler added three points, a drop goal from Australian Malone seven minutes later gave the Guinness Premiership's second placed team an eight point lead.

By this point, rugby league convert Myler had been replaced by Geraghty and the former London Irish man played a big part as Saints somehow masterminded another late show.

With six minutes to go the replacement number ten landed a penalty and then successive penalty kicks for the corner set Northampton up for their game winning drive.

A scrum seven metres out gave the Saints good field position and with time set to expire the ball was fired out to Ashton, who fumbled before clinging on and getting the ball down. All that was left was for Geraghty to add the extras.

Despite the win, Dowson has warned his team-mates that they cannot keep taking matches down to the wire ahead of their trip to Bath on Saturday. He said: "We're pretty pleased but there's a time where that luck is going to run out, so we need to start winning games a little bit earlier than the last ten seconds."

"There's loads of belief and loads of ambition but we also know that there's a lot of good sides. Bath are beginning to find their feet a little bit and they're going to be desperate next week."

Saints supremo staying till 2013

BY MARC BAZELEY

marc.bazeley@hpnorthants.co.uk

JIM MALLINDER will stay with Northampton Saints until at least 2013 after agreeing a contract extension.

Director of rugby Mallinder's deal was due to expire at the end of next season, but he has now put pen to paper on a two-year extension.

Saints chief executive Allan Robson praised the former Sale Sharks and England Saxons head coach for the job he has done so far at Northampton.

He said: "Jim has turned the team around in his two-and-a-half years here and the Board and I believe he is in the process of building something very special.

"We wanted to ensure that this can continue, which is why we offered him a contract extension and are delighted he has signed it.

"I believe all the club's supporters will be as happy as we are that Jim has committed himself to the Saints for at least a further two years.

"He has built a team that is playing stylish and successful rugby and is building on the foundations laid over the past two-and-a-half years.

"Northampton Saints is a club that is hungry for success, on and off the field, and we believe that Jim can continue delivering this in the near future."

Mallinder's first season in charge saw him preside over Northampton's unbeaten promotion-winning season in National Division One.

They also claimed the EDF National Trophy and followed that up by winning the European Challenge Cup last May in their first season back in the Guinness Premiership.

The Saints currently find themselves in the top four of the Premiership and on course for places in the knock-out stages of the Heineken Cup and LV= Cup.

But Mallinder insists there is still more

CONTRACT EXTENSION: Jim Mallinder who has more work to do in the seasons ahead to come, saying: "We still have a lot of improvement to make as a team.

"The players, coaches and all the backroom staff have worked very hard to be in contention in all three competitions we are in this season.

"But I want us to stay at the top end of the Guinness Premiership and become regular contenders in the Heineken Cup over the next three years.

"I believe we can achieve this, which is why I have decided to extend my stay for another two years."

Saints have also made an addition to their backroom staff, with Leicester Tigers chief scout Dusty Hare moving to Franklin's Gardens.

Cobblers reveal transfer window signings and loans

THE first new faces of the January transfer window have arrived at Sixfields after Northampton Town unveiled Stephen O'Flynn and Luke Wilkinson on Tuesday.

Striker O'Flynn joins until the end of the season after leaving League of Ireland side Limerick, subject to receiving international clearance, while Wilkinson is on a month-long loan from Portsmouth.

Cobblers boss Ian Sampson was pleased to have secured the services of O'Flynn, who scored 14 goals in 13 games last season. This included hat-tricks against Athlone Town and Shelbourne.

He said: "Stephen spent a couple of weeks with us just before Christmas and he impressed, so we have moved quickly to get him in as soon as we could.

"He has a real hunger to do well and to grab this opportunity we have offered him. He is a goalscorer and a good finisher but he works hard for the team as well.

"We know he will fit in well and I would like to thank the chairman for his backing in making this move possible."

The 6ft 2ins tall frontman has been capped by the Republic of Ireland at youth level and also played in the UEFA Cup during his time at Derry City, scoring the winner for the Candystripes against IFK Goteborg in 2006.

Wilkinson has been brought in to give competition to current centre half pairing Dean Beckwith and Craig Hinton, who have featured heavily during Northampton's recent good run of form.

"The defenders have done well in recent weeks but you should never stop looking to improve," said Sampson, adding: "Competition for places is always a good thing and brings the best out of players."

He was also delighted to have the 19-year-old on loan, saying: "He is a confident lad, a good defender and he is here for a month and we will see where that takes us.

"He has been training with us and he was in the crowd at Bournemouth last weekend so we have got to know each other a bit and I think he will fit in well."

Sampson is still hoping to bring a midfielder to the club. Some of the squad could also find themselves off to pastures new, with two departures already being confirmed.

Loan defender Danny Swailes has returned to MK Dons after an unproductive month, while Sampson stated that Patrick Kanyuka has already been told his contract will not be renewed when it expires at the end of January.

The former Swindon Town centre half made five starts for Northampton but has not featured since the 3-2 FA Cup defeat to Southampton at the end of November.
